DEDICATION

Guiding students along the pathway of integrity and wisdom is one of the most valued objectives in teaching. Dedicating himself to the fulfillment of this principle, he has aided pupils in reaching this goal. Sharing both in extra-curricular activities and in teaching, he has gained the admiration and respect of everyone.

By devoting uncounted hours and unmeasured patience, he has begun and developed an outstanding track team which has won four district and regional championships in four years. While coaching basketball at Stuart High School, he guided the Wildcats to their fourth state championship and registered fifty-six victories to raise his career's winnings past the century mark. With these and many more things in mind we dedicate THE 1968 JEB to Mr. W. D. Walker.

FOREWORD

The mountains represent wisdom and inspiration. Young life follows much the same pattern. Starting as a sub-freshman, a youth's experience and knowledge are limited, and his potential remains undeveloped. As he surges forward, the student is enriched not only through a deeper understanding of himself but also through a better understanding of those who inhabit his land and seek to guide his rising talents. Just as the mountains reach their summit, the student upon graduation, reaches the peak of his development and begins his life as a mature being.

Although the student's new life will be full of challenges, he will be able to rely on the wisdom and understanding gained in his youth for seeking new goals and striving to greater heights. The mountains will tower over him, ever reminding the student of dignity and beauty and impelling him to profit from their inspiration, for they are the gateway to OUR LAND.

Our land is filled with those who possess the talent for initiating a student's climb to the heights of his potential. Dedicating themselves to the principles of learning, the faculty guides the students through the frustration of unattained goals to the satisfaction of achievement.

To these leaders we owe the opportunity to enter OUR LAND and to grow then in mind and spirit. The faculty prepares us for the challenges of new and different lands by setting new guidelines for learning and by instilling within each student the desire for knowledge.

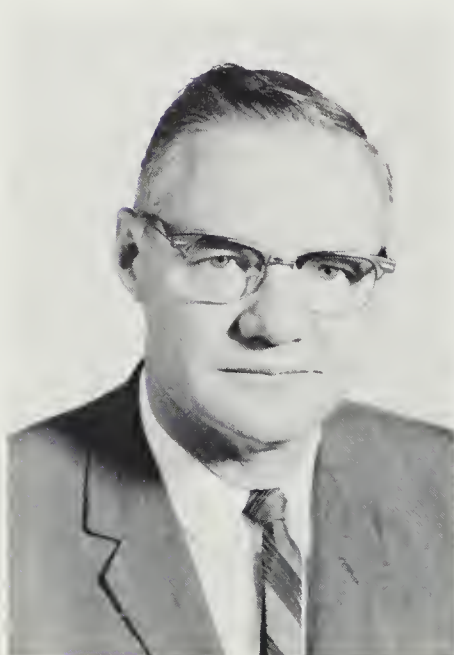

We owe not only the enrichment of our life scholastically to these dedicated professionals but also our social developments. Through their guidance in clubs, sports, and civic affairs we attain that which is necessary for success within and outside OUR LAND—the ability to appreciate knowledge and the wisdom to make it useful.

From within the boundaries of OUR LAND there is one element that results in its enrichment and growth — the students who inhabit it. They are solely responsible for the success of its scholastic programs and the achievement of worthwhile student activities.

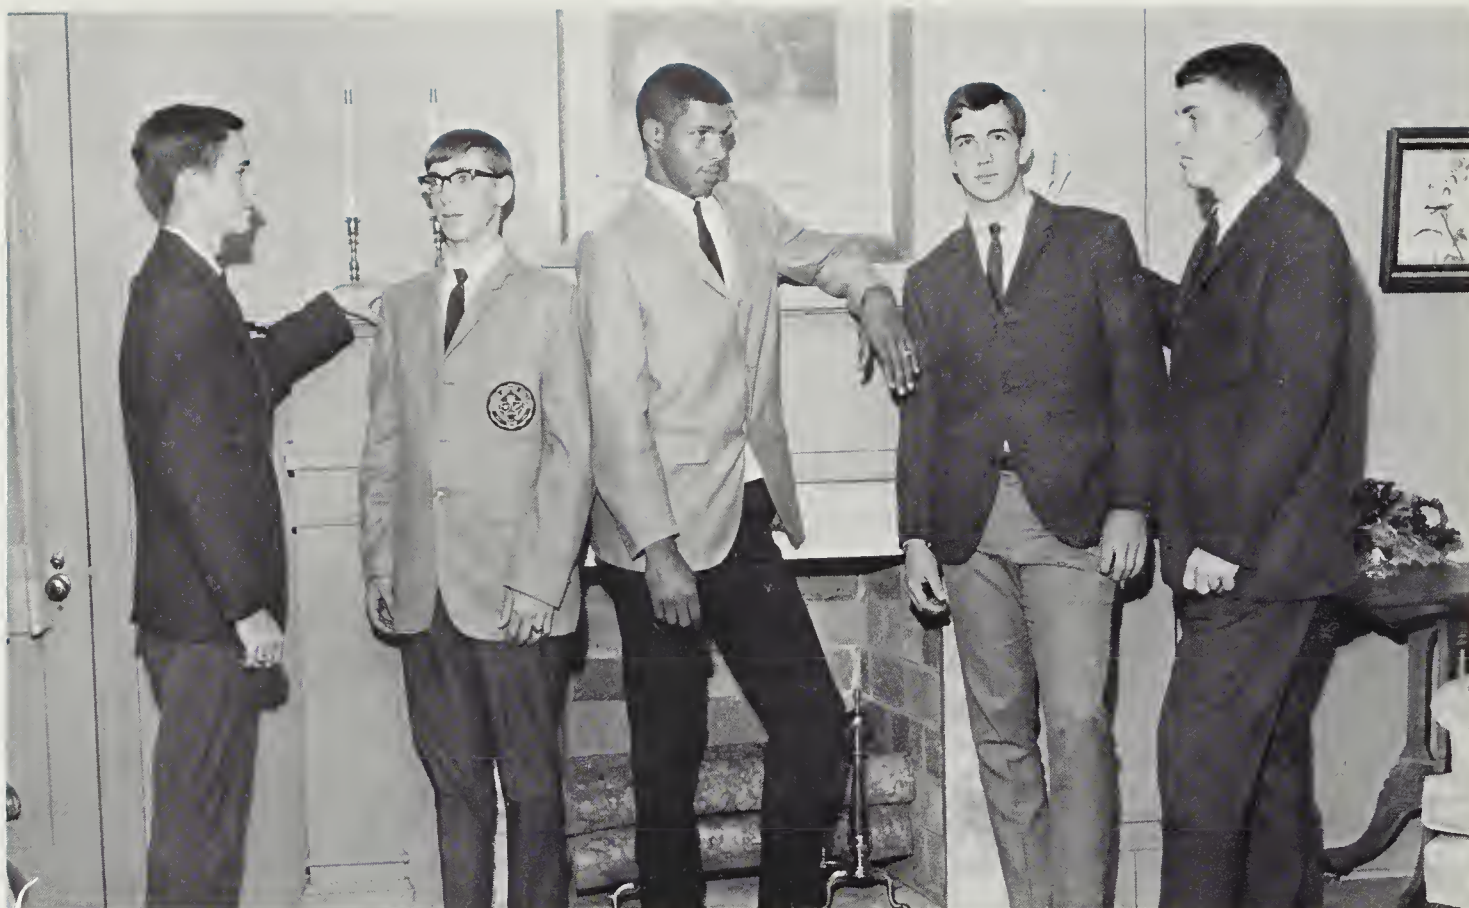

The sub-freshmen advance with cautious steps, learning that their fresh ideas for the design of OUR LAND are a necessary part of its continued growth. The ideas become goals as the freshmen climb higher and visualize a future of action.

The sophomore gains prestige and begins pursuing a way to make his goals take form. He adds concern for his classmates and school's welfare to the already existing list of beneficial attitudes.

The junior possesses the firm footing required to direct the action needed for further growth and design. He has earned a place of respect among his classmates and instructors, and the climb becomes meaningful as he is able to foresee its completion.

The land is conquered, and as the senior looks about himself he is able to see the breathtaking beauty of his achievement. He is now able to fill the role of leaders, and he becomes a source of inspiration to those who have just entered OUR LAND. His past is marked by success, and his future will be enriched for having made his successful journey.

Athletics are the major extracurricular activity in OUR LAND as the coaches and students devote much time to make Wildcat teams winners. Our coaches have given many unnoticed and uncounted hours out of their dedication to the students and to their jobs. As a result, Stuart has produced excellent winning teams in every sport this year.

Through the efforts of our three fine coaches, Mr. Walker, Mr. Cobbler, and Miss Agnew, the athletic department has expended at a remarkable rate. Just five years ago Stuart High had only four squads in inter-school competition; this year, however, the Wildcats will be represented by thirteen teams against other high schools in the area.

Athletic excellence is a proud tradition in OUR LAND, as is good sportsmanship. The players and student supporters have exhibited a fine attitude of courtesy and fair play toward our opponents this year. Our cheerleaders have constantly encouraged a high pitch of enthusiasm among the students and other supporters of the Wildcats.

Wildcats Have Successful

Stuart High School fielded its first football team this season. They were very successful as the Wildcats won their first season game and their first game at home. All opposing coaches and players were impressed with the squad.

Credit for football at Stuart High must be given to head coach "Pete" Walker and to our principal, Mr. Woods, who presented our application to the school board and encouraged many local merchants to provide financial backing. Mr. Walker was aided by assistant coaches J. E. Cobbler and Herbert Diggs.

For Football And Basketball Teams

The cheerleaders do Rah-Cheer at a pep rally.

As the varsity dribbles onto the court we hear . . . "Ray, rah, Varsity!"

The Stuart High cheerleaders have had quite a broad agenda this school year. In addition to cheering for girls' and boys' varsity and boys' J.V. basketball they cheered for Stuart's first football team. That means that they have practiced their cheers twice a week from September through February. They have cheered at three pep rallies this year, trying to teach the cheers to students and to arouse support for that night's game.

Debbie Gilbert and Joan Williams jump a tie ball.

Judy Ray dribbles toward her home court with Debbie and Joan as stationary guards behind her.

J.V. Girls Promise Titles

Ida Mae jumps up with a varsity player.

Judy crosses midcourt line and dribbles toward her basket.

The purpose of girls' junior varsity this year has not been to compete with other schools but to learn the basic skills in basketball. The team practices defensive and offensive plays and has scrimmage games to practice what they have learned. After they learn to work among themselves, they will be ready to play varsity basketball.

Cindy keeps ball from Joan during practice.

Coach Walker contributes much to Stuart High as a friend, teacher, and coach. He shares his knowledge with this J. V. team to prepare them for varsity basketball.

Walker Coaches Junior

Bill Cox gets two more points for the Wildcats.

Coach "Pete" Walker led the J.V. boys through a winning season with 9 wins and 6 losses. This record put the J.V. up to number one in the regular season playing but the team was beaten by Lee Waid for the district championship. The leading J.V. scorers were Bill Cox with 133 points and Kenneth Correll with 111 points. The boys on this squad have worked hard to improve their play and this desire will be an asset to our varsity team in the future.

Coach Cobbler reviews plays with captains Phillip Simmons, James Tatum, and Jeff Flippin.

This has been a very successful year for the Wildcats on the hardwood, as they have matured into a very skillful unit. Mr. J. E. Cobbler was promoted to varsity head coach this season after winning five straight district championships with his junior varsity squads. When he took over, he found only three returning lettermen and only five boys who had seen action in varsity competition. Thanks to dedication and hard work by both the boys and Coach Cobbler, the team developed rapidly to finish regular season play tied for first place with an 8-2 record and the slate showing 11-7 over-all.

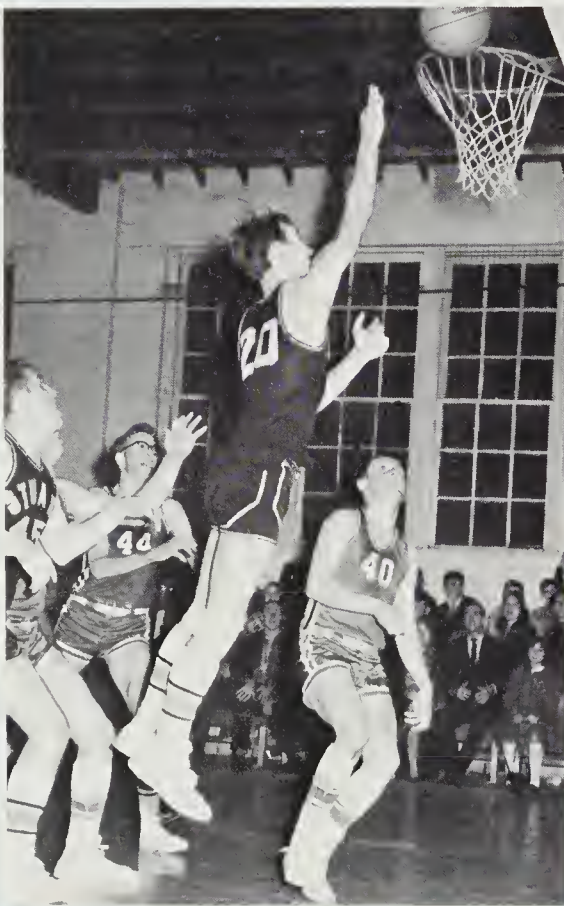

One of the things that marked the rise of the Wildcats this year was sharp shooting led by Murray West and Richard "Shot-gun" Spencer, the leading scorer in District 'R' with a 19.6 average. Also very important in the Wildcat scheme of things were defense as played by James Tatum and Phillip Simmons, and all out hustle characterized by playmakers Jeff Flippin and Mike Curry.

The Beta Club, the only honor society at Stuart High School, awards its membership to students in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes who meet its qualifications. Members are selected in the fall of each year and for the first time were tapped into the club this year. The new members are usually inducted into the club during an open assembly program.

There are rigid requirements applicants must meet to be accepted. Service, scholarship, citizenship, and leadership are among the phases of a student's personality that are considered in the screening made by the faculty. In addition, an average of ninety-two must be maintained in order for the student to remain in the club.

The Beta Club encourages non-Beta members by posting an honor roll each six weeks and by giving pins of achievement to the non-Betas who excel in their classes.

FHA MAN OF THE YEAR: Steve Hazlewood

The FHA is an organization established to prepare girls for their future as homemakers. Its goal is to promote a growing appreciation of the ideals of homemaking so as to enrich their lives and the lives of their families. Through the FHA, girls learn to accept their responsibilities in home and community life. This year's theme is: Good Health — A Valuable Asset.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Moon, the girls seek "to launch good citizenship through homemaking and FHA" by engaging in studies and projects throughout the year.

The girls began the year by sponsoring a booth in the Patrick County Agricultural Fair on which they won a red ribbon. The moneymaking projects this year were the annual bake sale and for the first time a "Man of the Year" contest. The club engaged in many other projects throughout the year such as observing National FHA Week and making favors for the nursing home, but the highlight of the year was the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization for high school boys who study vocational agriculture. The foundation upon which the FFA is built includes leadership, character development, sportsmanship, co-operation, service, thrift, scholarship, improved agriculture, citizenship, and patriotism.

Members learn from active participation how to conduct and take part in public meetings, speak in public, to buy and sell co-operatively, to solve their own problems, to finance themselves, and to assume civic responsibility. They also learn many valuable skills in the shop where they build many items useful to the school.

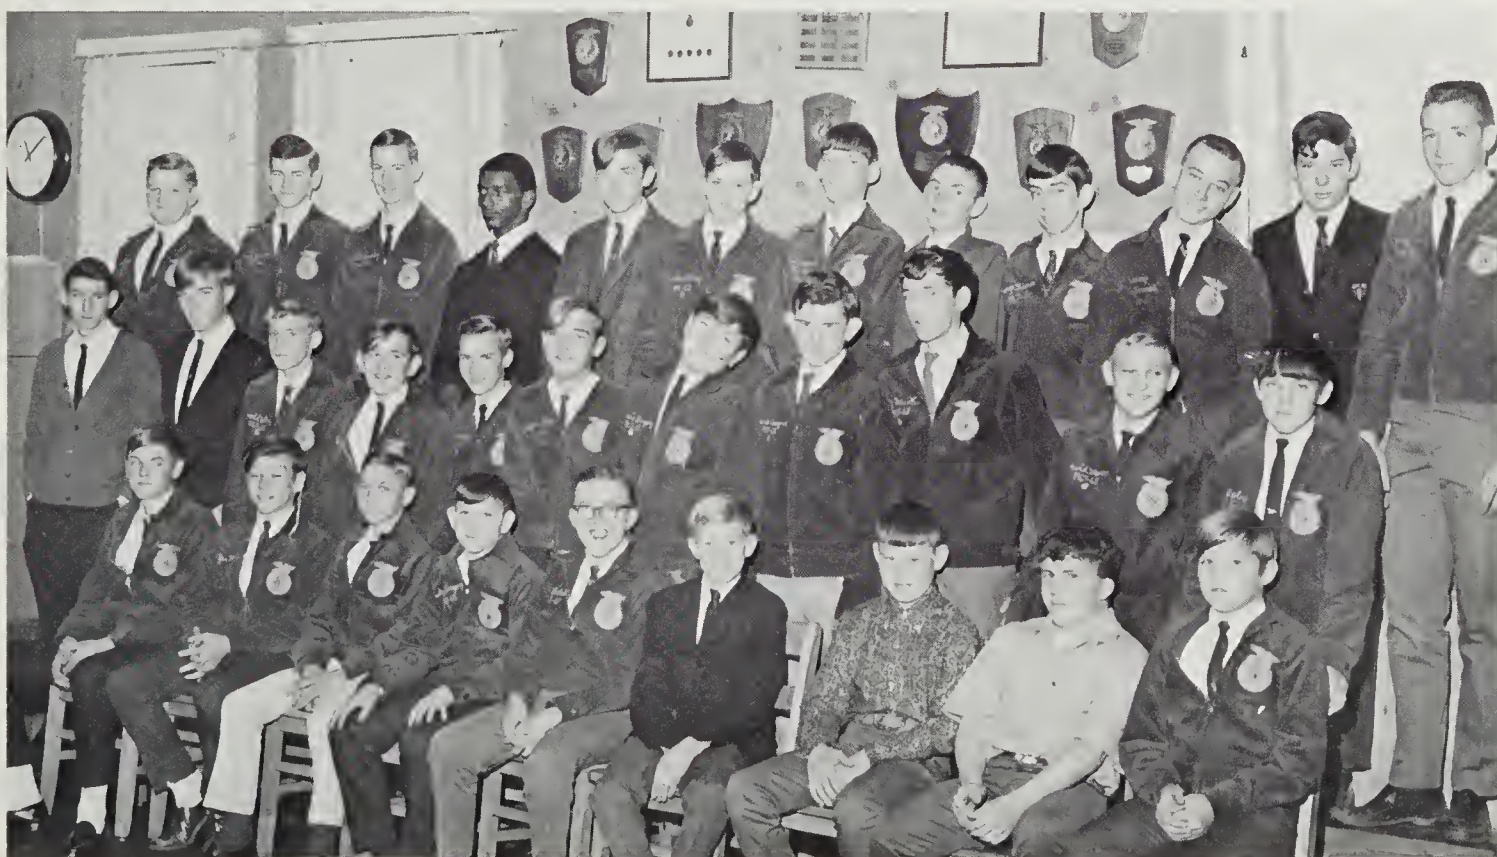

During the year members compete in federation, area, and state forestry contests, in a degree team contest, public speaking contests, and dairy judging contests. They also sponsor a father-son banquet and attend a federation banquet and state convention.

The 1968 JEB Staff has strived to give you of Stuart High School a bigger and better 1968 JEB. In doing this, staff members have spent long hours working to incorporate their ideas and efforts to form an outstanding yearbook — a yearbook that will be a source of fond memories for years to come.

In order to create a truly successful yearbook, each staff member must possess certain qualifications. Among these are responsibility, creative ability, co-operative personalities, and good grades. The staff members must have an interest in the yearbook, and of most importance, he must have the desire and willingness to work.

As the staff member gives of his time and talents to the yearbook, he gains valuable training in areas of journalism such as photography, layouts, design, writing, topography, art, and advertising.

Although the staff member's work may be completed, he is honored that he has helped create a yearbook which will become more valuable and enjoyable to him as well as to others when he looks back to see and read of the joys and memories of his high school days.

Moments of happiness and moments of sadness are very much a part of life in OUR LAND. These are the times that will stand out in our memories of Stuart High School. They are occasions of personal achievement and reward, of humility of the question "Why me?" They are also occasions of group accomplishment and of realization that these moments will soon be gone.

Although these moments will soon be gone, the rewards we have gained from them will remain for a long time to come. For it is in OUR LAND that we gain a sense of accomplishment and the wisdom which will guide us through the rest of our lives.

We realize that each student, each person, has his own outstanding qualities, and that all are of significance in the makeup of this high school. We all pay our tribute to the individuals, the groups, and the moments that make OUR LAND worth remembering.

1968 HONOR

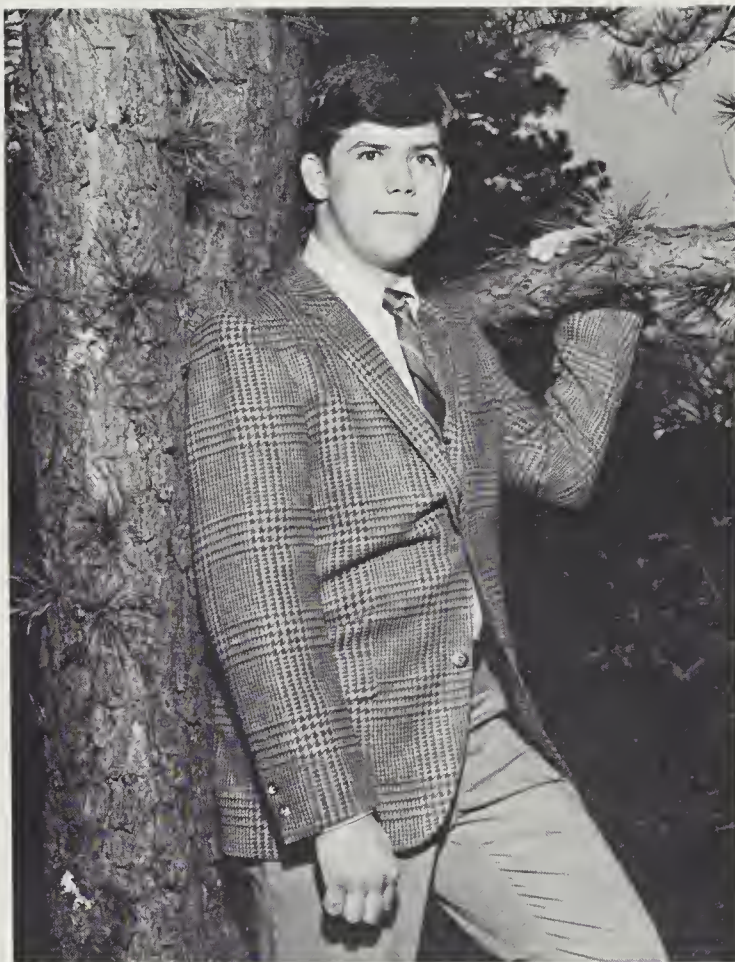

Preparation for adulthood begins within the gates of OUR LAND. Here a person begins his steady climb in hopes that someday he will reach the summit of knowledge. As he journeys upward, he is faced with many new challenges.

Citizenship becomes one of the goals he seeks to achieve. By co-operating with the students and teachers and displaying his ability to get along with others, he is able to pass the first hill and surge toward the top of his mountain. Through productive work he is again able to come closer to the summit as he attains academic achievement. But his journey cannot end until he accomplishes leadership efficiency. Once he has reached the peak, he is better able to meet the challenges outside the realm of OUR LAND.

Each year the faculty chooses six seniors whom they feel have succeeded in reaching their summit. The JEB Staff proudly presents these students as their 1968 "Honor Graduates."

Miss Stuart High Finalists: Nancy Jo Helms, Ann Taylor, Jane Gilbert, Joy Corns, Sandra Edwards, Brenda Nowlin.

Those Who Go Beyond The Required

Girls' and Boys' State Representatives: Susan Hazelwood, Barbara Hamm, William Dickerson.

Stuart High is proud to boast of the many students who have excelled within OUR LAND. Their accomplishments not only bring better recognition to our school but give these students a view of their own talents.

The Miss Stuart High finalists are chosen annually by a panel of judges to represent our school in the Miss Patrick County Pageant held in the spring. To receive such honor a girl must possess outstanding charm and poise.

The Girls' and Boys' State Representatives, selected each year by local civic organizations attend government conferences at Radford College and William and Mary College. Here they are able to enrich their understanding of government at the state and local levels.

The D.A.R. Good Citizenship is a senior girl who has been nominated by her senior class and voted by the faculty on the basis of her participation in church, school, and community activities.

The Junior Marshals are six juniors who have the highest academic averages in their class. Each year they participate in the graduation exercises.

The Betty Crocker Homemaker is a senior girl who has achieved excellence in Home Economics. After receiving the award, she is eligible for state competition.

The F.F.A. Sweetheart candidates are nominated by the members of the F.F.A. and voted on by the student body. From these girls one is chosen F.F.A. Sweetheart on the basis of her personality and popularity.

David Light presents Mr. Woods with a Christmas gift from the senior class.

The Christmas program, presented by the Co-ed Hi-Y Club, created an atmosphere of gaiety for the holidays. A group of elementary students entertained the assembly with two selections, "The Little Drummer Boy" and "Silent Night." The mood for the Christmas season was solemnized as the Christmas story was read by Kathy Ray, chaplain of the club. A gift was then presented to Mr. Woods by David Light, president of the senior class, in appreciation for Mr. Woods' guidance. Miss Jane Hart led the group in carols. Since many students were in a gay, festive spirit, the carols could be heard throughout the school. At the conclusion of the program, Mr. Woods gave his wishes to each student "for a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year."

After the assembly was dismissed, the student body gathered in the cafeteria where they were treated with holiday refreshments. Everyone departed from Stuart High with much anticipation for the approaching Christmas day.

Christmas Program And Homecoming

Kathy Ray adds to the mood of the approaching season as she reads the Christmas story.

Elementary students provide Christmas cheer as they sing "Little Drummer Boy."

Highlight The 1968 School Year

The seventh annual Homecoming was held Friday, January 26. Enthusiastic players and fans crowded into the school gymnasium to watch the Wildcats battle against the Cardinals of Meadows of Dan High School. In the preliminary game our girls were able to breeze past Meadows of Dan with an impressive 45-8 victory. The tip-off of the varsity boys' game found the Wildcats engaged in a fierce contest with the Cardinals. The Cats were able to surge ahead during the third quarter and go on to 84-69 triumph over their opponents.

The main attraction of the evening was the presentation of the Homecoming Queen. Nancy Jo Helms escorted by David Helms was crowned the '68 Homecoming Queen by Mr. Woods. Her court consisted of Jane Gilbert, Peggy Maness, Brenda Nowlin, LaVerne Shough, Sharon Tatum, and Ann Taylor.

Sophomores serving at the 1967 Junior-Senior Banquet were Katie Key, Lydia Adkins, Jane Hudson, Clarie Cox, Nancy Adams, Larry Burton, Danny Lawson, Gary Nowlin, Bob Elder, Murry West.

Weeks of planning, decorating, anticipation, and then—"In the Misty Moonlight"—the 1967 Junior-Senior Banquet arrived. On Friday, April 15, students and faculty members entered the cafeteria and found themselves a part of a lovely moonlit night. An old stone well at the entrance added a quaint touch to the artistically decorated dining area. Tommy Lawrence, entertainer for the evening, contributed to the mood of the evening with such songs as "People" and "Moon River."

1967 Junior-Senior Features

David finds that decorating takes some concentration.

"What did you say the theme is?"

Tim, Sandra, and Benny make a few final touches on the stone well.

“Here’s to the ’68 senior.”

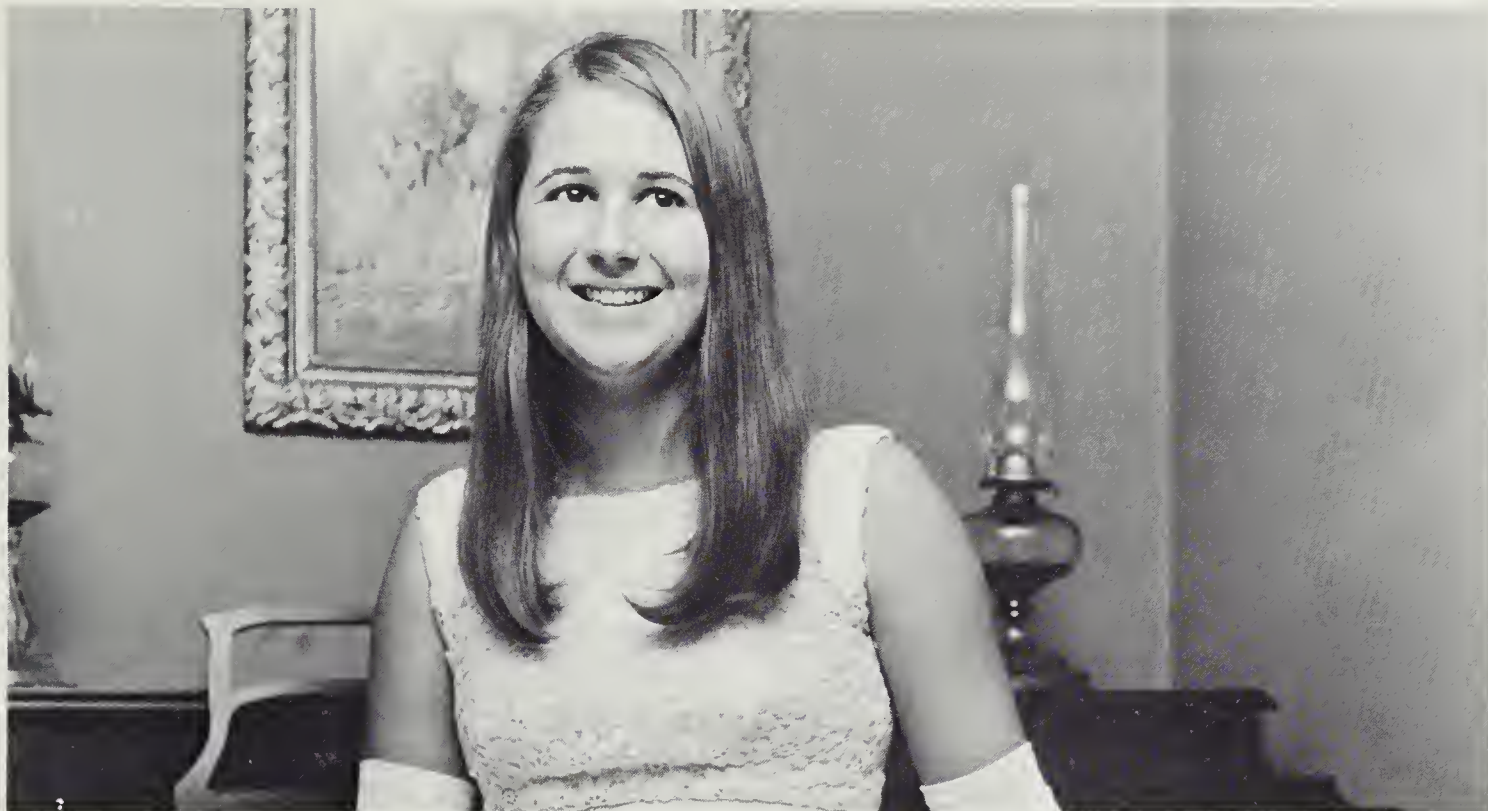

Jane Gilbert Reigns As "Miss Stuart High"

The 1968 Miss Stuart High Pageant, carrying out the theme "Daisies Don't Lie," was one of this year's highlights. Thirty-two contestants under the direction of Mrs. W. E. Dickerson, II and the sponsorship of the Student Co-operative Association, participated in the pageant. After many hours of practice with each girl trying to perfect every round, the night of competition arrived. From the contestants the judges chose Jane Gilbert, a senior, to reign as Miss Stuart High. Ann Taylor, also a senior, was selected first runner-up. The remaining six finalists were Joy Corns, Sandra Edwards, Nancy Jo Helms, and Brenda Nowlin.

FIRST RUNNER-UP: Ann Taylor

Sharon Tatum Chosen “Miss Jeb”

Miss JEB Candidates: Nancy Adams, Sharon Tatum, Mary Alice Byers, Sharon Rakes, Anne Dalton.

Sharon Tatum, the representative for the senior class, was selected “Miss Jeb” by the student body in the contest sponsored by the Annual Staff. Each student was allowed to vote for one of the five contestants who were nominated by the high school classes.

Success does not just happen in OUR LAND. It is a result of careful planning, diligent striving, and finally, achievement. The ultimate outcome of our journey depends not only on those things which we accomplish in the latter years of our education but most importantly on the background we build in our earlier educational process. We begin our search for a new land by discovering the fundamentals and by incorporating these fundamentals as we reach greater heights.

As the first grader begins his journey, he is intrigued by the length of the travel. But as he grows in mind and body through six more years of guided development, he realizes that the task before him is indeed small in comparison to the benefits he will receive later. Through the guidance and instruction of his elementary teacher, he becomes a well rounded individual and marks his entrance through the gateway to OUR LAND with the assurance that he has been well prepared to succeed at the future task confronting him.

Seventh graders are busily working toward becoming a part of high school.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

THE 1968 JEB Staff wishes to thank the many people who have made the publication of our yearbook possible. We owe our many thanks to Mr. Woods, the faculty and the entire student body for their cooperation; to Mr. C. F. Boswell and the Delmar Studio, to Mrs. Vivian Helms for the use of her home while taking officers' pictures, Honor Graduate pictures, and pictures of Miss Stuart High School finalists. We also owe much gratitude to the many advertisers and boosters. And to our sponsors, Mrs. Polly Tatum and Mrs. Jane Smith, we owe a special thank-you. Their worthy support and endless patience have been important factors contributing to the success of our yearbook.
